"If A equals success, then the formula is A equals X plus Y and Z, with X being work, Y play,
and Z keeping your mouth shut."

- Albert Einstein

<I'll Give You Electro>

You say that you want emotion,
and you claim that you need attitude.
You say that you want devotion -
but this is what we do.

Why don't you just listen for a while?
Is anybody listening any more?

Well I'll give you electro,
and you can stick it up your bass.
Yeah I'll give you electro -
how do you like it in your face?

You say that you miss the feeling,
and you cry that you'd like something more.
You say that we lack direction,
and our delivery's poor.

Why don't you try listening for a while?
Does anybody listen any more?

Well I'll give you electro -
we'll see if you can get it out.
Yeah I'll give you electro -
who's the one with feeling now?

I'll give you something new,
I'll give you more...

The original version of <I'll Give You Electro>
appears on the Hypernova
album <Transmission>,
alongside <Better Days>
and ten other tracks.

Also available, the
single <Better Days>, including two non-album
tracks.
